COUNTY BOARD CHANGE MEETING TO AFTERNOON

Local Newspapers Protest Move Because Supervisor Stories Cannot Be Run On Day Of Session

As a result of action taken by the Board of Supervisors, Monday afternoon of this week in an adjourned session, a procedure ordinance will become effective in 30 days which will set the time of board meetings as Wednesday at 1 p m. Meeting hour now is Monday at 10 a. m.

The ordinance was passed over protests of San Mateo County newspaper men, who reasoned that with afternoon meetings the public would not get reports of the supervisorial sessions through the peninsula daily press until the following day.

Although he was not personally interested in the change because his is a weekly paper, W. E. Pitschke of the Daly City Record pointed out that ordinarily local products are favored when the county is making purchases, and that, since the newspapers product is news, they should be considered in the same light, and meetings held at a time when coverage could be given by the local dailies.

Kenneth L. Bowen of the Redwood City Tribune pointed out the three county daily newspapers could not carry reports of the meetings until the following day, consequently most of the public would not know what had transpired at a supervisor meeting until 24 hours later than at present.

Board members desired the afternoon meetings, they said, so they could have conferences with the county manager and department heads in the forenoon before going into their sessions. Continuing morning meetings would necessitate their holding such caucuses and discussions the afternoon before, they said, forcing them to attend two meetings a fortnight instead of one.

NEW AIR LINER CRASHES IN BAY AFTER FLYING OVER FIELD AND TURNING FOR SECOND APPROACH

Bodies Of Pilots And Young Stewardess Discovered In Wreckage—All Passengers Lost

A mangled mass of wreckage, the Los Angeles-San Francisco air liner was raised by a derrick barge from the bay off Mills Field Airport, Wednesday of this week.

The crash which killed eleven persons occurred at 8:30 p. m. on Tuesday. All members of the crew were found dead in the plane, but remains of the eight passengers could not be located.

The crumpled bodies of Pilot A. R. (Tommy) Thompson and Co-Pilot Joe de Cessero were found strapped in their seats in the cockpit.

The main cabin was empty except for the body of Stewardess Ruth Kimmel, which was lying against a door in the rear.

Coroner William Crosby of San Mateo County, who landed the bodies at South San Francisco, said the two pilots had been crushed to death, while the stewardess was drowned.

BODIES MISSING

Crosby said bodies of the passengers apparently floated away through a gaping hole in the top of the fuselage. He gave as his opinion it might be a long time before they were found, adding that some of them might never be located.

While passengers ordinarily fasten their safety belts when a ship lands, it was believed the impact of the

ATTEMPT MADE TO ABOLISH ONE JUSTICE COURT

Claim Made That Expense Of Maintaining Two Courts Is Unnecessary

In an effort to abolish the holding of a justice court in the First Township, at both Daly City and South San Francisco, Supervisor Smith, chairman of the San Mateo County board, Monday of this week, advised his colleague supervisors:

"It is my recommendation that Judge Clay be given the same consideration and treatment as the other justice courts in the county."

The supervisor further stated the recommendation followed a personal investigation in the First Township after the receipt of a letter from W. H. Troy, candidate for supervisor at the recent election, asserting that it was illegal for Judge Clay to hold the office of police judge for Daly City while acting as justice of the peace.

Smith said this was not illegal, but pointed out that two courts were being maintained in the district.

Judge Clay established his first court at South San Franciso. Later, when it was thought the volume of business warranted, the former Board of Supervisors granted him a second court in Daly City, with offcie help and mileage from his home to South San Francisco and back.

"This set a precedent which requires serious thought," said Chairman Smith.

He contended "there should be less work for Clay in South San Francisco because the police judge there has the same jurisdiction as the jus-

EXTENSION OF WATER AND FIRE ALARM SYSTEMS INTO NEW AREA IS CONTEMPLATED IMPROVEMENT

Investment Of $22,500 Will Pay For Itself In Less Than Fifteen Years — Insurance Rates Lowered

Included in the current civic improvement project is the extension of the municipal water system and fire alarm system into the Colma area which was annexed to Daly City three years ago.

Cost of this phase of the project is approximately $22,500. The following statistics show that the extension will pay for itself in fifteen years, and from that time on it will pour $1500 or more profits per year into the city treasury.

The Daly City Water Department now serves 4000 users and nets a profit in excess of $20,000 per year, or better htan $5 per consumer. The Colma extension will reach 300 new users and will net a profit of $1500 per year. In fifteen years a profit of $22,500 will be piled up, which will pay for the original investment.

From that time on additional profits will be realized, and they will

Way Nearly Cleared To Build Reservoir

Only one obstacle remained this week in the way of the construction of the proposed 500,000 gallon water reservoir for the Memorial Park area.

The Works Progress Administration has given an okeh to a project calling for relief labor on the job.

Plans, which have been approved, have been signed.

While in Sacramento, yesterday, County Engneer U. S. Marshall visited the division of water rights and was informed that the county application to take 225,000 gallons of water daily from Pescadero Creek had been granted.

Thus, the acquisitions of three-fourths of an acre on the land of T. E. Peterson was the only remaining obstacle, Marshall said.

If offers to purchase the property from Peterson continue to meet rejection, condemnation proceedings are to be started.

APPOINTMENT TO FIRE DEPT. RECONSIDERED

Council Holds To Seniority Ruling In Appointment of Men to Volunteer Stations

The Daly City Council held rigidly, Monday evening of this week, to their ruling in appointing firemen to the local volunteer department in the chronological order which applicants file their intentions with the city clerk.

Hence a recommendation, made by the fire commissioners, to appoint B. L. Meritt to fill a vacancy in Company No. 1 was refused. John K. Kapor, it was pointed out, had made application to join the department at a time prior to the Meritt filing

After considerable discussion, a motion prevailed to postpone action until after the next meeting of the fire commissioners, so a new recommendation could be made to the council.

City Clerk Ross announced that Deno Agresti had applied for membership in the local fire department. Agresti has had four years experience in the Colma company.

"Moonshine" Whisky Seized In Raid

In the raid of a distilling plant of a South San Francisco merchant, Monday of this week, thirty gallons of "moonshine" whisky was seized by State Board of Equalization agents.

Dan Bartoli, South San Francisco shoe store operator, was fined $500. The illicit liquor was seized at his home at 336 Baden avenue.

State Board of Equalization Agents Peter Bozovich and Tom Goslin found the distilling plant Saturday night after making the purchase of a gallon and pint of the cut-rate liquor.

USED BEDROOM

Bartoli, according to Bozovich, admitted he was purchasing 25 gallons of alcohol from an "unknown" wholesaler each week. In his bedroom, Bartoli was coloring and cut-

OFFICIALS HAVE BEEN APPOINTED FOR TANFORAN

Spring Meeting To Open Saturday, March 13, With Little Change In Personnel

Floyd McKenney, well known racing official, has been appointed presiding steward for the race meeting to open at Tanforan, Saturday, March 13, 1937. He has been connected with Tanforan each season in its modern phase. The appointment was announced yesterday by J. W. Marchbank, executive director of the popular course.

As in the successful period of racing last fall, Judge McKenney will have in the "stand" with him James F. Gallagher and J. K. Macomber. Judge Gallagher has served in an official capacity at important courses over an extended period. Judge Macomber represents the California Horse Racing Board.

Julius G. Reeder returns as racing secretary and handicapper, a position which he filled so capably last fall. Judge Reeder invariably provides cards that please the racing fan, making a specialty of bringing out the better grade of horses in contests at a mile or more.

Executive Director Marchbank has decided to offer no purse less than $700. On each Tuesday and Friday there will be a $1000 feature. The minimum claiming price will be $1000, thus insuring a high class of competition in each race. These overnight events and stakes already announced, headlined by the $10,000 added Marchbank Handicap, are expected to attract the best horses in the history of Tanforan.

The racing officials: President Steward, Floyd McKenney; Associate Steward, James F. Gallagher; C. H. R. B. Steward, J. K. Macomber; Placing Judges, J. Maluvius, J. C. McGill and Peter Clark. Racing Secretary and Handicapper, J. G. Reeder; Starter, Ed Thomas; Manager of Mutuel Department, C. L. Harding; Entry Clerks: J. Maluvius, B. Whitehead; Timer, James McDonnell; State Veterinarian, Dr. H. C. McKim; Track Veterinarian, Dr. M. J. O'Rourke; Track Physician, Dr. F H. Smith

Tanforan will be open for training operations, Saturday, February 20.

NEGRO IS SLAIN IN R. R. YARDS NEAR BRISBANE

Corpse Hidden In Box Car Filled With Lumber, And Door Locked From Outside

The lifeless body of an unidentified Negro itinerant, the victim of a savage clubbing, was discovered, early Monday morning of this week, in a lumber laden box car in the Southern Pacific railroad yards near Brisbane.

The office of Sheriff James J. McGrath, with Undersheriff Lawrence Nieri and Deputy Matt Farrell in charge, is investigating the case. The Negro was undoubtedly murdered, authorities said. They declared his head had been crushed in by re-

Another violation of the state liquor laws was disclosed when Bartoli said he was paying young boys to gather whisky bottles for him. All were being refilled and sold under the labels of numerous liquor firms, it was charged. Had dealers broken the bottles as ordered by the state, Bartoli would not have been able to get stamp bearing bottles.

continually increase with population advances in that area.

All profits from the municipal water system are turned directly into general city funds.

CHEAPER RATES

In addition to the "pay for themselves" advantage of the extensions, Colma residents will be offered a lower water rate. At present they are charged a $1.60 minimum meter rate. If they become Daly City water users a $1 minimum rate will be charged, the same as the users, which will also include free garbage disposal.

Tests show that Daly City water is exceptionally low in mineral and bacteria content.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

The program includes installation of five fire alarm boxes in the area. Each box will serve approximately six square blocks.

The Board of Fire Underwriters reports that insurance rates in the Colma district will be reduced nearly 12 per cent if alarm boxes are put in.

thousands of bay commuters when it was tied up at Oakland several years ago; a colony of penguins, a village of red Eskimos, igloos, scientific equipment and many of the other features that made Little America memorable in books and motion pictures.

"If such an exhibit could be approved," Admiral Byrd said, "I would conduct a special expedition to the Antarctic to collect the penguins. They can be kept in captivity and could be bred commercially in the United States."

Admiral Byrd suggested that the "Bear," which served as his hermitage on his last South Pole expedition, could be tied up at Exposition Island, as the center of the Antarctic exhibit. He is also willing to bring here the nine by thirteen foot hut in which he lived for six months in the icy wilderness.

The Woodrow Wilson P. T. A. presented a Life Membership to Mr. R. L. Crane Superintendent of Schools, in 1931, the first to be given in Daly City. Mr. Crane has derived a great deal of pleasure from the honor and some worthy student continued on in school.

WATER PUMP LEAK

Leaks in the water pump at the packing gland nut can be checked by tightening the nut slightly with the motor running and then backing the nut off a fraction of a turn. The pump nut should not be tightened with the motor stopped because there is then less chance of getting an even distribution of packing material around the pump shaft and housing.

BREEDERS PUT OVER GRAND WINTER MEET

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Reports come from Florida that Hialeah is having an extremely brilliant season. That is good news, indeed, as the course is conducted by two of the foremost sportsmen of the country, J. E. Widener and Colonel E. R. Bradley. Whatever success comes to the nationally known breeders is richly deserved.

Ever since I have had anything to do with racing I have been convinced there is no place for dividend-mad promoters in the game. By far the best way to conduct the sport is as in Florida—have breeders of the thoroughbred at the helm. They will never go far wrong. They would not have gone into the fascinating pastime of rearing high class runners if they were intent solely on a heavy return on their investments.

Such gallopers as Whopper, Roman Soldier, Columbiana, Log Tintagel and fashionably bred two year olds are given the spectators at beautiful Hialeah plenty to talk about. As usual on any race course, there have been "upsets." Whopper, at a very short price in the mutuels, and Tintagel, the Futurity winner, also at odds on, have suffered defeat. But one always recalls the old adage about the very uncertainty of racing keeping it going.

Some of the critics have expressed the opinion that the boy on the giant Whopper was overconfident and tossed the race off by easing his mount up a little when he seemed to be winning easily, throwing him off his stride.

A better explanation of the defeat of the big horse in the mile event is that Whopper took a notion to change strides himself after running so fast around the last turn, as gallopers sometimes do in spite of the frantic efforts of the jockey to prevent it. An apt comparison has been made between a very tired horse and a man carrying a heavy burden in one hand and when the arm becomes tired shifting the load to the other hand.

A week later the filly that led Whopper to the wire was again in front of him, with others beating both. It begins to look as though the miss, Two Bob, a daughter of The Porter, of the evergreen Ben Brush line, is better than originally rated.

The moral:

There are no sure things in racing.

NEGRO IS SLAIN IN R. R. YARDS NEAR BRISBANE

peated blows from a blunt instrument.

VAGRANTS QUIZZED

A half dozen Negroes, together with several other itinerants, were booked on vagrancy charges and are being questioned concerning the murder.

The body was discovered by George Hontalas and Stephen Brohm, railroad company workers, who were cleaning out box cars.

The savage assault had occurred only a short time before the body was discovered, authorities said, pointing out the blood had not yet fully coagulated.

A short distance from the car was a tool box and Nieri said that blood and fragments of brain found on the box indicated the assault had occurred there. The body had then been placed in the car and the door locked from the outside.

The slain man was described as 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and shabbily dressed.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

The slain negro was identified, Wednesday, as Joseph Davis, 37, a man who had left a long string of misdemeanor convictions behind him and had served time in Stockton, Fresno, San Joaquine County and San Francisco jails.

As San Francisco police made the identification Sheriff James J. McGrath announced that he expected "a good lead" to result in the near future in arrest of two men believed responsible for the club slaying, which followed a hobo jungle fight over "mulligan" stew.

The United States has no fewer than 5,000,000 dogs. The cost of feeding an average dog is about ten cents a day, which brings the country's dog maintenance costs up to about $547,000,000 a year.

NO MERCY FOR DRUNKS

Here is an excellent thought from an Oregon paper: "If the newspaper men were judges in courts dispensing sentence upon drunken auto drivers, there would only be first offenders.

Regardless of race, color, creed or alleviating circumstances, the person who has so little consideration for the lives of innocent people as to drink intoxicants before or after placing himself behind the steering wheel of an automobile should never be allowed to repeat the performance. Revocation of licenses would be final. Driving a car is a privilege—not a right."

It is impossible to prove exactly what percentage of automobile accidents are caused by drunken driving, for the reason that in many cases where liquor plays a part, arresting officers and prosecutors are unable afterwards to produce sufficient evidence for a conviction. But all the best estimates say that alcohol is the definitive factor in a much higher proportion of mishaps than is generally realized. Furthermore, an accident in which a drunk is involved is more likely to be serious than one involving sober drivers.

Drunken drivers are often released after paying relatively small fines. Some juries are notoriously derelict in their duty in bringing in convictons.

The drunken driver should never be allowed to pay a fine, and he should be denied the right to use the public streets and highways. If such a program were carried out throughout the country, one of the gravest menaces to life would be greatly minimized.

PARTY OF PRESIDENT IS REALLY DEMOCRATIC

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

With President Roosevelt keeping right on carrying out his pledges to the people that, if re-elected, he would institute reforms to place the federal government under popular control, a clear demarcation is being made between the liberals and the reactionaries. The suggestions of the chief executive that the courts of the country be made more responsive to modern needs has stirred up the supporters of oligarchy to a remarkable degree.

The few were in supreme power for such a long period it is hard for men of a certain type to understand there can be a change to the rule of the millions of men and women making up our democracy.

The opposition furnishes representatives in Congress worthy enough at the forward proposals of the President to blurt out:

"The administration already has destroyed the economic stability of the country and now it proposes to destroy the judicial stability. This is pretty near the beginning of the end of everything."

In California the strength of the liberal movement, led by President Roosevelt, is growing day by day. On all sides are heard expressions of the hopelessness of the candidacy of any representative of the opposition party in the gubernatorial election next year.

The conviction that the President not only makes promises, but lives up to them, no matter how much vituperation may be heaped on him, has made the people of the state realize the only thing to do, nationally and within the boundaries of this commonwealth, is to stay with his party.

The Securities and Exchange Commission is continuing its good work. James M. Landis, its chairman, recently made an announcement indicating the commission was doing everything possible to protect the interests of the people in the battle started by the President with the public utilities.

Chairman Landis said some of the public utility holding corporations are "cutting their own throats" in refusal to comply with federal law. The registration provisions of the public utility holding company act were declared constitutional in a federal court in New York and the decision gave the chairman the opportunity of discussing it with the press.

Only about one-fifth of the holding companies have registered.

Landis called on the officials of the companies to give up their attorneys, saying they were furnishing spurious legal advice, tinctured with political dislike.

The head of the S. E. C. warned that all companies should register, as required by law, and put themselves in a position to refund securities and to make possible readjustments in capital structures if the rights of consumers were to be protected.

Landis named John W. Davis, who ran for President on the Democratic ticket in 1924, as one of the lawyers not in step with the law. He grouped other legal counsel of the holding companies as "Liberty League lawyers."

One telling sentence of the statement is worth quoting:

"The responsibility for non-compliance with law lies with a group of lawyers who believe they can thwart national political thought by obtuse legal advice."

RECEIVE FOOD

On the tiny Island of Foula, in the Shetland group, 120 half starved inhabitants received, this week, their first fresh food since December 27, when the fishery drifter "Betty Bodie" reached them. Continuous storms enveloping Great Britain and sweeping down the Norweigian coast for several weeks had isolated them.

Half Million Dollar Fortune Unclaimed

A half million dollar fortune went unclaimed, early this week. The $500,000 came looking for Thomas Griffith, 40 year old worker at the unemployment relief camp in San Mateo County Memorial Park.

Word that he had been left the huge estate by relatives in England was contained in a telegram received by Superintendent Hart of the park camp.

Hart said that Griffith, an Englishman, left the camp a week ago and his present whereabouts are unknown. He is believed to be in Redwood City.

Griffith will receive the fortune on condition that he "changes his religion," and gets married in a specified time, Hart quoted the telegram as saying.

Relatives who sent the wire are in San Francisco waiting to take the former jobless camp worker on a world tour and then to England to claim the $500,000, the superintendent reported. Hart sought the assistance of County Engineer U. S. Marshall in locating the lucky heir.

P. T. A. Will Give Tribute to Founders

When the National Congress of Parents and Teachers celebrates its fortieth anniversary, Wednesday of next week, tribute will be paid to Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst, who called the meeting of the first National Congress of Mothers in Washington, D. C., in 1897.

Archives of the National Congress in Washington contain many interesting facts about the founders of the organization which now unites 2,000,000 members in 25,000 local units and is known the world over as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

American Legion Plans Gala Meet

Legionnaires from Contra Costa, Alameda, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Mateo Counties will attend. Co-operation in holding the big meeting has been promised by the Burlingame city officials, Chamber of Commerce and merchants of the city.

It is planned to hold a parade Sunday afternoon starting at 1:15 o'clock. The county drum and bugle corps, the Boy Scout band, the San Mateo post crack rifle team as well as military and band units from the other counties will participate in the parade.

EXPERIENCED HOUSEWIFE CLUB

(By Maude Larue Ives)

There is a breath of spring in the air and Mrs. R. W. Waddell, 287 Los Olivos avenue, sends in the following vegetable dish that is sure to tempt spring fever appetites:

SPRING CASSEROLE

Eight small new potatoes, eight baby carrots, one small cauliflower, one cup fresh peas, one half pound cheese, two cups medium cream sauce and parsley. Cook vegetables (cauliflower broken in flowers), add sliced cheese to vegetabes in the casserole and the cream sauce. Stir until the cheese is melted. Bake in over of 375 degrees until thoroughly heated. Garnish with parsley. Fresh green beans and small onions may be used as a variation.

Mrs. Z. Petrocchi sends in a National recipe which tastes just as good as it sounds.

FILLING FOR RAVIOLAS

Get pieces of real, top round and pork. Have the butcher grind the three together, very fine. Ten or fifteen cents worth of cooked spinach. One onion, piece of garlic, a little celery and parsley. Brown these a little, then put in the meat ingredients. Cook a little longer, then add the spinach.

Soak a piece of bread. Strain and then combine with the previous mixture in a large dish, and to this add pepper, salt, allspice and grated cheese. Mix thoroughly.

Ravioli paste may be purchased in any desired quantity, and is much better than could be made at home.

LEMON JELLY

(From The Farmers Wife)

One package of gelatine, soaked soft in one-halfcup of water and enough lemon juice added to bring cup measurement to two-thirds. Cook the lemon peels and a couple of pieces of cinnamon bark in one pint of hot water for ten minutes. To this add one cup sugar and the gelatine and let come to a boil. Remove from fire and strain. Add to it green fruit color and strained diced pineapple, or, if in season, green grapes or white cherries. Put in mold to cool.

WONDER IF THIS MEANS ME?

Many a man who is satisfied with himself is awfully disappointing to others.

Boy Scout News

Boy Scout Troop No. 141 and Cub Pack No. 141, sponsored by Grace Church of the Nazarene, held their first annual father and son banquet Thursday evening, February 11. Each Scout and Cub was asked to bring his father and a boy guest.

The dinner started promptly at 6:30 and was followed by a program in accordance with Boy Scout Week.

The Cubs received their achievement awards earned during the month and a Court of Honor was conducted for Second and First Class Scout advancement.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

This troop has a Scout Week exhibit at 6282 Mission that is well worth seeing, although it is the first attempt at anything of the kind. One object of particular interest is a troop bulletin board which is decorated with Scout knots tied by members of the troop past and present and by such notables in Scouting as Raymond O. Hanson, executive, and Clyde V. Pearson, divisional executive.

We are conducting a contest in our troop and are using the Duplex Boy Scout Efficiency Charts. We find that the system is a genuine activity stimulator.

They are getting under way to publish a troop paper as one of their projects. It will be known as The Deep Purple.

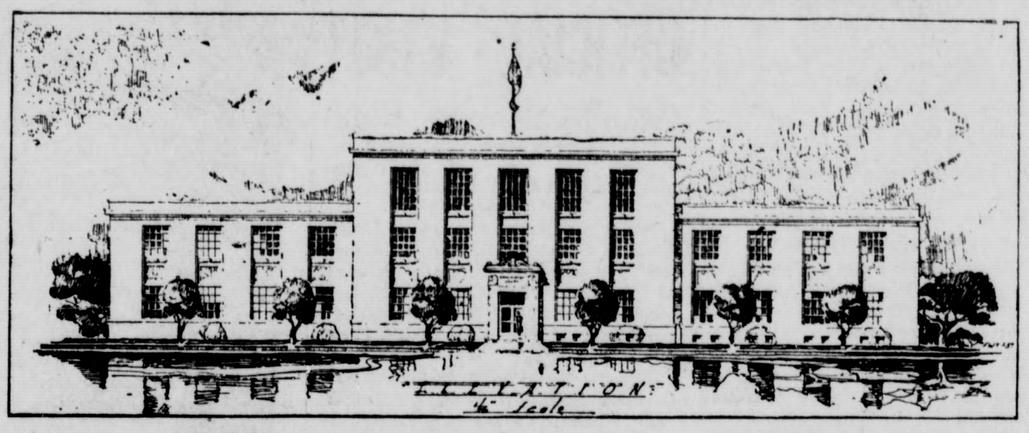
As a means of replenishing the troop treasury it is planed to sell Boy Joy breakfast food. It was made famous at Camp BOY JOY last summer.

Entertains Her Birthday Club

Mrs Cora Ray of Flournoy street entertained the members of the Birthday Club at luncheon, Friday of last week, Mrs. Catherine Mara being the honored guest

After luncheon, Dutch whist was enjoyed by the following: Mesdames Catherine Mara, Mattie Smith, Agnes Wood, Margaret Orr, Mary Walker, Anna Welsh, Doris Burdick, M. Bardel, Grace Coolish, May Hopkins, Malva Fazendin and Lottie Lovier.

PROPOSED NEW COUNTY OFFICE BUILDING



This structure may soon be erected on Marshall street, between Jefferson avenue and Middlefield road in Redwood City. The picture is the drawing by Architect William Toepke of the proposed new county office building, for which PWA grants are now being sought. The handsome edifice, which may cost from $100,000 to $200,000, will relieve crowded conditions in county offices and unite many of the departments under one roof. The supervisors chambers will occupy the third floor, with provisions being made for this third story to be extended out over both wings, if more space is ever needed.

China Night

Vista Grande Camp, Royal Neighbors of America, entertained the camps of the Bay district at a camp meeting, Friday evening of last week, at Eagles Hall.

This affair was in the form of China night, all members of Vista Grande Camp wearing Chinese costumes.

The hall was decorated in lanterns and Chinese lilies.

Following the meeting refreshments were served to about fifty members and visitors.

NOTICE TO FEDERAL INCOME TAXPAYERS

Shanley, of the Internal Revenue Service, will be at the City Hall in Daly City on Tuesday, February 23, to assist taxpayers in preparing their returns. No charge will be made for this service.

The matter of filing your income tax return should be given immediate attention in order to avoid penalty and interest.

Founders Day Program Will Be Sponsored

The Jefferson Union High School Parent Teachers Association is planning an elaborate Founders Day program for Tuesday evening of next week, at 8 o'clock in the High School auditorium. Mrs. Grace Hill will be chairman, and the program will be as follows:

Music, Jefferson High School Band; Advance of Flag, Boy Scout and Junior Drill Team of the American Legion Auxiliary, Daly City Unit No. 410; "Star Spangled Banner," by the audience; short business session; Mrs. Stella Jensen, president; Talk on peace, Mr. James Ferguson, principal; music, direction of Mr. Stevens; playlet, "Reminiscence," members of the Jefferson High School P. T. A., directed by Mr. Hoppe; music, Jefferson High School Band; history of P. T. A. Unit, Mrs. T. I. Bently; Candle Lighting Ceremony—National, Mrs. Spann; State, Mrs. Hayes; Unit, Mrs. Prestidge; School, Mr. Ferguson.

Awards Given For Basketball

Basketball awards were given, Wednesday of last week, to the Jefferson Union High teams. The assembly was sponsored by the Block J Society and was presided over by George Young.

Coach John Bunn of Stanford was the main attraction on the program. He related the story of the first basketball team and its originator, Dr. James Naismith of University of Kansas, who was a close friend of the Stanford mentor. Coach Bunn possesses the only photostatic copy of the first rules of basketball, and he has loaned this copy to the high school for a short time.

Mr. Bunn later presented the varsity their emblems. Those that received their circle J's were: Lee, Young, Balletto, Girdler, Corrigan, Olson, A. Wright, and Murray.

The 130's who received their awards from Coach John Matthews were: Barghini, Vanini, Denning, Millet, Callen, Kennedy, Kanter, Pasquinelli, Doyle, and Fox.

George Lewis, who has been manager for the season, received his block.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE GOLDEN GATE

How The Name Came To Be Applied To Entrance Of Our Famous Harbor

With the Golden Gate International Exposition on the 1939 horizon, it might be well to ascertain the origin of the name Golden Gate.

There is a general impression that the entrance to San Francisco's harbor and the bay was so called because of the brilliant sunsets which throw their golden light over the hills and cliffs. Not at all. The real reason for the name is to be found in the memoirs of John Charles Fremont. He ought to know, for it was he who named it.

"Between these points," he wrote, "is a strait—about one-mile broad in its narrowest part, and five miles long from the sea to the bay. To this gate I gave the name of Chrysopylae, or Golden Gate; for the same reason that the harbor of Byzantium (now Constantinople, or Instambul) was called Chrysoceras, or Golden Horn.

"The form of the harbor and its advantages for commerce suggested the name to the Greek founders of Byzantium. The form of the entrance into the bay of San Francisco and its advantages for commerce, Asiatic inclusive, suggested to me the name which I gave this entrance, and which I put on the map that accompanied the geographical memoir addressed to the Senate of the United States, in June 1843."

It wasn't the gold of sunset, but the gold of commerce, that gave the Golden Gate its name. In June, 100 years ago, in 1836, the first cargo was exported from the port of San Francisco, through this Golden Gate. The shipment consisted of hides and tallow.

Hold Food Sale

The L. D. S. Relief Society will hold a food sale and bazaar at 6280 Mission street tomorrow, Saturday, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

As there are no facilities there to serve a luncheon the ladies wish to inform the public they will be unable to serve eats, as they had previously planned.

LINER CRASHES IN BAY AFTER CIRCLING FIELD

crash might have broken the belts and allowed the bodies to float clear.

First reports were that the cabin door was found open when the plane was raised, but officials of the United Air Lines said later that the door was pried open by searching parties.

The ship was upside down when brought to the surface.

The body of Miss Kimmel was the first to appear. With the wreckage raised just above the surface and dangling against the derrick barge, one of the salvage crew scrambled over the slippery metal surface, forced open the door and climbed into the cabin. A moment later a stretcher was passed in and the body was hoisted out.

Then men clambered forward to the nose of the ship, forcing open the door to the control cabin. The bodies of the two pilots were pulled out and transfered to a waiting launch.

Small boats remained at the scene of the crash, about two miles off shore, grappling for the rest of the bodies.

CRASH IS MYSTERY

The reason why the large, new Douglas built luxury ship plunged down into the bay at the very moment when it was about to land from Los Angeles is a mystery that three separate inquiries will attempt to solve.

"We haven't an inkling as to the cause of the tragedy," said one United Air official. "Wind and weather conditions were decidedly favorable. It was a dark night, but that should have made the field all the more visible, as the weather was clear.

"A mistake must have been involved, either in the plane mechanism or on the part of the pilot."

Eugene Vidal, director of the Air Commerce Bureau, said preliminary reports indicated the plane may have side-slipped as the pilot circled to make a landing. He ordered R. W. Shroeder, chief of air line inspection, to San Francisco to take charge of the federal investigation.

TWO EXPLANATIONS

The latest theory, advanced by other flyers, was that Thompson overshot the field. Speeding up to return to the runway, according to this theory, he threw open the slot in the aerilon which acts as a brake, but opened it too wide. This caused a drag, stalling the ship and bringing on the crash.

Another theory, was that Thompson banked too close to the water, the tip of the left wing striking the water and rolling the ship over. The third was that Thompson did not realize how close he was to the Bay and his landing gear touched the water, rolling the speeding plane over on its nose.

The tragic climax to a routine passenger flight came with dramatic suddenness.

At 8:47 p. m. Tuesday, Radio Dispatcher Theodore Martin, in the control room at the airport got in touch with Pilot Thompson, who asked for wind direction and other data. Martin advised Thompson to come in on the field's north-south runway.

Thompson asked if he coundn't come in on the east-west runway instead, as there was practically no wind, and the dispatcher said that was all right.

MARTIN'S ACCOUNT

Here is Martin's official account of what happened then:

"The plane crossed the east end of the runway at approximately 400 feet and followed the shoreline northward about as far as the new fill for the Pan American base. The pilot turned toward the open field in a right hand turn and then turned rather sharply toward the San Mateo bridge, as though circling for another approach for the eastward runway.

"However, as he made this turn, the plane went into approximately a 45-degree dive and continued at that angle until it went below the dyke and I could no longer see his lights.

"A few seconds later there was a terrific roar which lasted but a few seconds and then all was quiet. There was no explosion other than that when the plane hit. I could not hear his motor after he made his turn and so I cannot say whether or not they were still 'turning over.' He did not call again nor give any visible signs of having trouble. I first saw his lights about east, northeast of the administration building."

"Be sure your landing gear is down," said Martin, routine advice he issues to every incoming plane.

The field sprang into feverish activity. Telephone calls brought Coast Guard cutters and the police boat D. A. White down the bay at full speed.

There is a crash boat at the field, but it was not sent out, Airport Supt. B M. Doolin explaining that it is not equipped with flares or searchlights and would have been useless.

Every available plane at the field was sent up to circle the Bay and try to sight the wreckage.

Flares dropped on the water gave a weird color to the scene.

The San Francisco Fire Department came roaring down the highway, swung across the field to the edge of the water and trained a battery of searchlights toward the spot where the big ship was seen,

FLYER SIGHTS WRECK

Shortly before 2 a. m. Frank Fuller, flying sportsman who had joined the search, radioed he had sighted the wreckage, at least two miles from shore.

He said there was no sign of life.

Simultaneously, tired searchers aboard the D. A. White sighted the tail of the plane sticking out of the water. The police boat nearly ran down the wreckage before the discovery was made.

Flares were tossed overside and other searching boats converged on the scene while planes swooped down from overhead.

A Coast Guard cutter launched a rowboat, which pulled to the wreck. as the tide receded, the men in the small boat tried fruitlessly to cut their way into the cabin.

Bill Reed, veteran diver who worked on both bay bridges, arrived on the scene, donned suit and helmet and went down into the murky water to pass a heavy chain around the wreck.

This was attached to the cables of a big derrick barge, towed down from San Francisco. Slowly the smashed plane was raised. The skipper of one of the small boats at the scene reported that as the plane appeared above water it began to break up.

The ship was one of a fleet of super air liners put in service in December. It had a capacity of 21 passengers and cost $110,000.

BODY FOUND

A ghastly twist developed on Wednesday in the fatal air crash by the discovery of the body of Mark E. Fontana.

Evidence accumulated that several, if not all, of the passenger victims died by drowning after fighting their way out of the stricken craft under water.

The body of Fontana, millionaire San Francisco food manufacturer, recovered by Coast Guard grappling hooks from the bay bottom in the area immediately adjacent to where the plane dived to its end gave mute testimony of his fight for life.

His body lacked coat, vest and trousers. His shirt was unbuttoned and his shoes undone. A preliminary examination indicated death by drowning rather than injuries in the crash. The only visible injuries on Fontana's body were cuts on his brow, which may have been inflicted by the grappling hooks.

tice of the peace within the corporate limits."

TAKES OPPOSITE VIEW

This latter contention was disputed by Judge Clay, on his being interviewed, he stating that police judges have jursidiction only in cases arising within the incorporated cities in which they are functioning as such, and have no control over cases arising outside those limits, these coming under the purview of the justice of the peace. He also stated that the sum of $26,869.39 was taken in during the years 1935-36 in his two justice courts. He gave as his opinion that this amount was approximately as great as that received from all the other county justice courts combined.

The recommendations were referred back to Supervisor Smith and the district attorney to devise details for a workable plan.

THANK FIESTA COMMITTEE

The supervisors tendered a vote of thanks for the fiesta commission's "wonderful report." The commission stated that, in addition to the available $19,701 for next fall's show, there are assets of $1500 on hand in materials and equipment for future shows. The body requested appointment of the new commissioners at an early date so they can begin preparations for the 1937 fiesta.

The commission's report also said that, through holding of the fiesta, the county had received a great volume of publicity, which, in their opinion, was valued at about $1.90 per inch.

Attorneys Norman S. Menifee and Joseph R. Fitzpatrick of Redwood City, were appointed as trustees of the County Law Library to succeed Richard O. Bell and Judge E. I. McAuliffe, whose terms have expired. The naming of the new trustees was recommended by the San Mateo County Bar Association.

Possibility Of Widening El Camino

San Mateo County officials report progress on their fight for the widening of El Camino Real from Redwood City to Palo Alto, a million dollar job.

A local committee met in Sacramento with the State Highway Commission, Friday of last week, to discuss the project. The commission refused to include the program in the forthcoming biennial budget, but it did consider the widening job important enough to label it "No. 1" on the list of projects which the state will undertake with any excess funds.

Additional money may become available through federal grants or through savings on contracts.

The committee which journied to Sacramento expressed a belief that the state will find funds with which to widen the highway at least to Five Points during the next two years.

Engineers and school officials are hopeful that the gymnasium will be completed and available for use when the fall semester opens in August.

Proof Asked For Political Charges

County Executive Walter T. Kellogg sent five letters, late last week, to undertaking establishments which recently requested the removal of Coroner William Crosby on charges that he had actively participated in politics in violation of the charter and that he had discriminated against the undertakers in assigning work.

The letters requested affidavits or other proof to substantiate the accusations. Kellogg will combine the evidence with his own findings and report conclusions to the supervisors.

He specifically asked for proof of the complainant undertakers charges that they had not been given a single case to handle by the present coroner, and that Crosby was acting in violation to state and county laws by actively participating in politics.

FOALS FROM NEW SOUTH WALES TO BE SHOWN HERE

Prominent Owner From Australia Plans To Race At Tanforan Next Year

A. J. Matthews, prominent thoroughbred breeder of Australia, plans to come to San Francisco soon to be the guest of J. W. Marchbank at the spring meeting at Tanforan. Matthews is the owner of the Waratah stud at Peak Hill near Sydney, New South Wales, and had intended to bring over a band of brood mares of fashionable blood lines, bred to American time, but on account of the death of Mrs. Matthews finds himself unable to carry out his intentions.

Next year the "downunder" sportsman will undoubtedly ship some matrons to California. He wants the foals of these mares to come in California in order to make them eligible to events restricted to California bred colts, at Tanforan, Bay Meadows and Santa Anita.

The foals have an added interest to California racegoers inasmuch as they will be sired by the fleet Winooka, which it will be recalled won a match race at Tanforan several years ago. He is of the best strains and promises to be a highly successful stock horse.

Nabob, owned by breeder Matthews, has been placed recently in important races at Sydney and Melbourne.

It may be that Nabob may race at Tanforan later on.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, February 14, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Soul." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope. For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption" (Ps. 16: 8-10).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Soul is immortal because it is Spirit, which has no element of self-destruction. Is man lost spiritually? No, he can only lose a sense material" (p. 311).

Phone Call Averts S. P. Train Wreck

Thanks to a telephone call from an unidentified person, a Southern Pacific fast freight train was not wrecked in San Mateo, late last week, with possible loss of life and damage.

The 68 mile an hour gale which swept across the peninsula uprooted a huge eucalyptus tree that fell across the track at Popular avenue, San Mateo. A quick phone call to the San Mateo depot sent section hands out just in time to flag down a fast northbound freight, it was disclosed by the station agent.

The freight was forced to wait an hour as the section men labored to remove the tree.

San Mateo Junior College To Enter In Art Exhibit

San Mateo Junior College will send some of its student art work to Mills College for an art exhibit planned there for late March. The exhibit is open to all the junior colleges in the state.

Miss Donna Davis, San Mateo art instructor, who has been named on the committee of selection, states that it takes about two days to judge each entry. Richard Allman, former San Mateo art teacher, is chairman of the junior college entries.

NOTES ON OUR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

It is reported by District Superintendent R. L. Crane that his elementary schools opened their hearts to Ohio and Mississippi flood suffers, by their prompt and generous contributions. Within a few days after the request was made to the students, teachers and janitors of the school a total of $146.40 was collected from the six schools in the district, a sum which more than exceeded the expectations of those in charge. The 100 per cent co-operation of every classroom and teacher deserves commendation.

Students of the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School held a student body meeting Friday, February 5, conducted by President Nadine O'Brien of the high eighth grade. The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the plan of having a mammoth semi-annual school paper. The idea was met with great enthusiasm by the students. This school paper is an extra curricula activity which acts as a stimulus for student interest and initiative as well as a means of integrating school subjects.

Students under teacher supervision are encouraged to take an active part in the management of the school and grounds. Thus, commendable work is being done to educate these young citizens in civic pride and spirit.

To celebrate the twenty-seventh observance of Boy Scout Week the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School held a very impressive ceremony Thursday, of last week, at 9 o'clock in the morning. The Boy Scouts and Cubs of the school, dressed in uniform, were assembled on the front stairs. As Bugler Billy Hicks blew his salute to the flag, Scouts Glenn Goode, Donald Laston and Frank Pate raised "Old Glory." The pledge was then given by the entire school, led by Assistant Patrol Leader Lawrence Christiansen. Scout Christiansen explained to the school the history, function and purpose of the observance of Boy Scout Week. He further led the scouts in reciting their oath and laws, while Cub Sidney Pate led the Cubs in reciting the "Cub Promise." Other scouts participating were: Elza Bryant, Robert Riordan, Gary Baldwin, Harry Clark, Larry McKeown, Dean Nelson, Gordon Perry, Wallace Bellando and Donald Laston. Cubs participating were John Mossman, Milton Roberts and Henry Herting.

The impressive ceremony was closed by the entire school singing "The Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Hahn. The program was prepared and directed by the principal Miss Tobias.

Colma Officer Hurt In Highway Crash

State Patrolman Harold Varni, 35, Colma, sustained a scalp laceration and a concussion of the brain, Sunday of this week, when his motorcycle crashed into a car driven by Cecil Ramsey, 34, also of Colma.

The accident occurred at Grand avenue and Locust street, South San Francisco. According to police, Ramsey was making a left hand turn at the intersection when the motorcycle hit the left rear bumper of his car.

Varni was taken to the South San Francisco Hospital in a semi-conscious condition. He improved rapidly and is now well on the way to recovery.
